DETAILED ACTION

1. Receipt is acknowledged of Applicant's Prior Art Statement, filed May 4, 2006.
2. Receipt is acknowledged of Applicant's Foreign Priority papers, filed May 4, 2006.
3. Receipt is acknowledged of Applicant's Prior Art Statement, filed May 4, 2006.
4. Claims 1-12 are presented for examination.

Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claim 1, line 2 the phrase "in particular" is deemed to render the scope of the claims indeterminant, in that the metes and bounds of the passage are not clear. A broad range or limitation together with a narrow range or limitation that falls within the broad range or limitation (in the same claim) is considered indefinite, since the resulting claim does not clearly set forth the metes and bounds of the patent protection desired. See MPEP § 2173.05(c). Note the explanation given by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in Ex parte Wu, 10 USPQ2d 2031, 2033 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1989), as to where broad language is followed by "such as" and then narrow language. The Board stated that this can render a claim indefinite by raising a question or doubt as to whether the feature introduced by such language is (a) merely exemplary of the remainder of the claim, and therefore not required, or (b) a required feature of the claims. Note also, for example, the decisions of Ex parte Steigewald, 131 USPQ 74 (Bd. App. 1961); Ex parte Hall, 83 USPQ 38 (Bd. App. 1948); and Ex parte Hasche, 86 USPQ 481 (Bd. App. 1949). In the present instance, claim 1 recites the broad recitation "disk-shaped hub", and the claim also recites "in particular for a hand-guided angle grinder or a hand-guided circular saw" which is the narrower statement of the range/limitation. In claim 1, line 5 the phrase "that it is able to move..." is deemed vague and indefinite, in that it is not clear which structure is being referenced by the term "it".

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hofmann et al(DE 10222292) in view of Chen. Hofmann et al disclose a tool-holding device for an insert tool comprising substantially all of the subject matter set forth in Applicant's claims above. Note disk-shaped hub(42), spring element(18); and drive shaft(16). While it is not clear whether Hofmann et al disclose form locking elements on the drive shaft, Chen discloses a power tool having a splined drive shaft with form locking elements mating with corresponding elements on a drive flange, to secure the tool against rotation with respect to the shaft. To provide the drive shaft in the device of Hofmann et al with form locking elements to mate with the drive torque transmitting mechanism to prevent relative rotation of the insert tool with respect to the drive shaft, would have been obvious in view of Chen. The exact number of form-locking elements is regarded as being an obvious matter of design choice to those of ordinary skill in the art.
